The connection is established, but for some reason I lost the connection (which I think might have been a closing the db connections to ASE). How do I reconnect to the database? A: If your client is script based, here are examples in java and pgsqll you can use For Postgresql: create extension postgis; alter extension postgis force; For Sybase: alter database... database options(...postgis_enable 'YES'); alter database...database options(...sybclient=true); There is likely a similar set of commands for other client types. Q: How to copy array from OpenGL VBO to CPU? Is it possible to copy the ArrayBuffer that is used for VBO to CPU? With glCopyBufferSubData() it is possible to copy the data to CPU but it doesn't work for VBO, I think. Or do I have to copy every vertex to CPU? A: There are functions for that as you did already mention. However there is one function in OpenGL, glMapBufferRange, which might be what you want. In particular
